Dear Mr. Peters,

Because I have heard nothing from you about the two articles I sent you I assume you have not yet decided.

Of one I sent you the rough draft, which is pretty rough. I cannot do better.

However, as apparently I had forgotten, a local student did retype it for me before the end of the previous college year.

While her typing was not perfect, it is infinitely better than mine.

So, I enclose it.

She retyped it four or five months before the Posner reprint was out so what I added relating to his reprint and his inability to refute a word I'd published about him is not included in what I enclose.

I added it to the copy of the rough draft I sent you.

Sincerely,

Harold Weisberg
